BOB GLUES HIS FINGERS TO THE TABLE, OOPS

How to make small pieces into larger pieces was any excellent presentation by Bob Deffeyes. He had hand outs and jokes. His examples of segmented turning are spectacular. It sure makes sense to start off with small chunks of wood. It really saves time and it is easier to glue up the sawn pieces than fit that broken bowl back together.

ON DECK IN SEPTEMBER

Jim McGannon, City Forrester will be speaking briefly at the September meeting. He will describe how they seek to find the highest and best use for the cities trees which have to be removed.

Tony Bevis will demonstrate how to rough out some of that walnut. He will also talk about how to rechuck it for final turning after it is dry.

Pikes Peak Woodturners Shop Tours 2006

The second annual tour is a great way to see how other members have set up their shops and to see where they hide their wood. With any luck we may get a lathe or two up and running this year.

Date: Sat. Sept 23

We will have maps to pass out at the meeting. You can also find the map at our web site, www.yoyospin.com/ppw. Click on Calendar and then on the Roundabout Shop Tour Line. Carpooling is encouraged.

THE PERPETUAL BOWL RAFFLE

Jonathan Neely made this Ash bowl for the August raffle. Joseph Melton was the lucky winner. He will bring a turning to the Sept. 7 meeting to be the next perpetual bowl.

The perpetual bowl is a monthly fund raising activity for our club and it creates woodturning collections of the winners.

Remember, the first ticket drawn at the raffle wins the perpetual bowl. That winner may decline the opportunity to create the next Perpetual Bowl

August Table of Turnings

The Show and Table table was awash in quality turnings and there was a lot of wood in the raffle. Jon Gurnett made the scoop. Jim Carey's platter is beautiful. His bowl with the inlaid buffalo nickles was also pretty cool. John Tulluch turned the natural edge goblet. Dan Miller from Pueblo turned the finial box from spalted grapefruit wood. Hugo Uhlig turned the chinese ball on the pedestal.

Larry Fox submitted this photo of the wedding vase he made for his step daughter's nuptials. Hopefully he can bring it to the meeting so we can check it out.

Meeting called to order by president Ed Davidson at 6:30 PM

John Tulloch has made arrangements to have Dick Breckon do our September demonstration. Dick will be teaching us how to construct kaleidoscopes.

Reminders:

The Rocky Mountain Woodturning Symposium will be on September 16th – 17th at Loveland Colorado. Special Note: Volunteers needed to help at symposium For volunteers their registration fees will be $90 instead of $135.

Start making your plans for our All Around Shop Tour on September 23. Maps and details for the tour will be available at our September meeting.

Trent Bosch will be our special demonstrator in December. More details later.

The instant gallery was conducted by Tony Bevis. The perpetual bowl was won by Joe Melton.

Robert Deffeyes provided the demonstration for the August meeting on how to construct and turn really beautiful segmented turnings. He did a really good job and as an added bonus he gave us his mathematical formulas for cutting the segments.

Adjourned, respectfully submitted, Jim Carey, Sec.

WALNUT TURNING BLANKS FOR SALE

The club purchased this pile of dead walnut street tree logs from the City of Colorado Springs Forestry Department. Kay Caunt made the original contact with Jim McGannon, City Forrester, and Tony Bevis borrowed a trailer to collect the logs. Larry Fox, Grant Taggard and Tony bucked up the pile and Ed Davidson put his presidential seal of greenwood sealer on each turning blank. The wood is stored in Elmer Jacobs shop to preserve it's quality. We offer our thanks to these volunteers who offered their services.

The club is selling each blank for $5.00 to recoup our investment and perhaps generate a profit for the club. The logs will be brought to the September meeting in the back of pick up trucks. It will be first come first choice, so arrive early for best selection. Please do not disturb Elmer to buy any wood before the meeting.

BOARD MEETING DATE SET

Our next Board meeting will be Thursday, October 5 beginning at 4:30pm at the Swan Palace Chinese restaurant (5605 N. Academy). All members are welcome.
